He works along original lines, and made decidedly good impression upon those who greeted him yesterday.

NELLY'S ALLEY, IN VARE ZONE, REEKS WITH FILTH

Garbage, Cans Filled for Fortnight, But, No Collectors, is Charge

FLIES BUZZ IN BATTALIONS

Unspeakable Conditions Make Day and Night Hideous for Residents-Fear Infantile Paralysis

Nelly's, Alley Conditions and Some Filth Facts

TIME between garbage collections, two weeks. Dirt and refuse, swept into piles and left in street. A dead cat on one pile of refuse for eight days.

Alley full of stagnant water, grease and filth.

Huge green flies breeding in gutters and manure piles.

Death rate among children, largest in the city. Location; one hundred yards from the Vare brothers old homestead. Nelly's Alley is between Jackson and Winton streets near Fourth.

A small girl, bare-footed and clasping a ragged doll to her breast, ran down Nelly's ragged doil to her breast, ran nown Newy a alley. Strictly speaking, Nelly's alley is not on the map of Philadelphia. It lies between Jackson and Winton streets, off Fourth street, and has only two claims to Fourth street and has only two claims to notoriety. It is the filthiest place in Philadelphia, and by strange coincidence it is within a stone's throw of the old homestead of the Vares.

/ The little girl splashed through a pool of stagnant water, full of decayed food, of stagnant water, full of decayed fond, slime and filth, and stopped full suddenly in the entrance. Her small brother was engaged in the fascinating business of removing a dead cat, or what had been a dead cat, eight days before, from a pile of dirt before their front doorstep. He was a bit pale, this small boy, but he stuck man-fully to his job, under the direction of the neighborhood physician, Dr. E of 2127 South Fourth street. orhood physician, Dr. Bernard Kahn, of 2127 South Fourth street.

Here and there a whiff of carbolic acid penetrated the nauseating odors of putrid flesh and refuse. Mrs. Jacob Hymen had purchased fifteen cents' worth of carbolic acid and a quarter's worth of kerosene and poured it in the gutter to make the air at least possible to breathe. Thirty-five cents is a great deal of money in Nelly's alley. It would seem that God's air at least should be free, but the garbage contractor and the street cleaning contractor have de-

"When we can," said Mrs. John Sherman, hushing a freful, white-faced baby in her arms, "we keep the children indoors, but what can you do? They must play, and they have only the streets. It is I who am afraid of infantile paralysis"—she caught her boy closed. "They were so many to many last summer." creed otherwise.

caught her boy closed. "They were so many, so many last summer."
Judging from the great green flies swarming and breeding in every pile of manure and flith in the block, there will be many, many more this summer. They droued and buzzed angrily like an immense hive of bees. They rose in great clouds and settled on the children and on the babies. "It is not that we have not garbage cans," said Mrs. Hymen, and led the way through a small but clean little house and into a brick yard about four feet long and Into a brick yard about four feet long and five feet wide. "Here is where we sat when the cat got too bad," she explained, but all the breeze was at the front and the nights were hot.

"My husband he says to the men who come to clean it up: "Why don't you do it right? We pay our taxes."

"They drive by and they laugh."

She unlatched the alley gate and pointed to a covered zinc can. "It is full, and more than full, for two weeks, and yet they do not come—the collectors."

The Penn Reduction .ompany has the contract from the city for garbage collections.

The street cleaning contract is in the hands of State Senator Edwin H. Vare. It would seem that he apparently had a grudge against his old home. Meanwhile the streets rock with disgusting odors, and the babies die, almost as fast as the files breed in Nelly's alley.

HOSPITAL SUSPENSIONS STAND, KRUSEN DECREE

Two Nurses and Two Physicians Out at Contagious Diseases Institution

The two nurses and two physicians sus-ended from the Philadelphia Hospital for Contagious Diseases will not be allowed to return to duty, according to Director Krusen, of the Department of Health and Charities, who settled the "hospital row" today, "They cannot demand a trial, for today "They cannot demand a trial, for under the rules of this department physicians and nurses are subject only to the action of the Director," he said. "They are exempt from civil service regulations, so are not entitled to a hearing before the Civil Service Commission. The official charge against the accused is insubordina-tion, which cannot be tolerated anywhere.

especially in a hospital of this size." Two nurses, Miss Doakes and Miss Davis. were suspended by Miss Ginter, head nurse, for going from the scarlet fever ward to visit nurses in other wards. This is cor sidered a serious infringement of the rules owing to the nature of the hospital, but much indignation was caused by the fact that the two nurses in question only had two days to serve before getting their dip-lomas.

On Friday morning all of the nurses held A meeting and decided to protest. They went to see Dr. Burnett Buckingham, the superintendent, but he refused to interfere with Miss Ginter's action. On the same day Doctors Danbrauckas and Kleinstuber both of the diphtheria ward, were suspended on the charge that they had encouraged the suspended nurses and two other nurses in their insubordination.

"Suffragettes"—Globe

Catchy music, lines that have the neces-sary punch and an excellent company, all helped to make "The Suffragette Revue," a musical comedy tabloid, the headliner at the Globe last night. The production oc-cupies the stage for about an hour and there is not a dull moment during that time. Joe Watson, a Hebrew comedian, drew many laughs by his jokes and character

The surrounding bill includes Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, in a one-act playlet, entitled "Master Mood"; Irene La Tour; Ward, Fay and Ward, juvenile entertainers; Bud

Snyder and company, in a cycling novelty, and Marie Empress, in a repertoire of popular songs.

The motion pictures were up to the minute.

Lois Weber-Broadway

Lois Weber—Broadway

Lois Weber, in the seven-reel photoplay,
"Even As You and L" was the main attraction at the Broadway last night.

The story is an allegory and shows how a sculptor gives up youth, love and honor, not realising their true value until it is too late. Ben Wilson and Mignon Anderson have important roles.

Frank Daniels, in a comedy entitled Captain Jinka," free many laughs.

Timely and interesting current events accedented by the firm news service.

Access furnet in The Siron will be

WHY BABIES DIE DOWN IN VARE'S OLD HOME WARD

This shows the Winton street entrance to the disease-breeding spot known as "Nelly's Alley." Nelly's Alley is between Winton and Jackson streets just off Fourth street. The Vare brothers' old homestead is just across the street. The pile of stuff in the street is garbage which has been there for two weeks. A dead cat surmounted the pile until yesterday. The water seen in the picture is stagnant. Flies breed there by the hundreds. More babies die in South Philadelphia than in any other section of the city. Physicians with an electric fan. All of which is with-out novelty and entirely calculated to please those who like Mr. Arbuckle's methods. If you care for the 'hokum' of the slippery soan, the greased floor and the chase you'll like this. Pernaps next time the adiposing

Norma Talmadge in "Poppy" is at the Victoria. The Regent's bill is headed by Harold Lockwood in "The Haunted Paja-

Raymond Knox-Cross Keys

A Philadelphia boy-Raymond Knox-1:

of the big laughmakers on the bill at Cross Keys. He offers a new version of the society chappy, and incidentally in- figured in the pictures.

man." At the Broadway is virible "F star will get a regular story.

THE "O. HENRIETTA" PLUS DOUG AND JOHN

'Wild and Woolly," at the Stanley, Brilliant Farce; "Judith" at Arcadia

By the Photoplay Editor

TANLEY—"Wild and Weells," Agreeft, with Douglas Falrbanks and Elizen Porcy, Story by Horye B. Carnenter, Scenario by Anita Lona Directed by John Emerson, Photographs by Victor Fleming.

To the Great Three of screen comedy: freetings and salutations. Also, unlimited redit for a rattling good fantastic farce incidentally, it's the snappiest thing Fair-sanks has ever done. "His Picture in the Papers" may have been more novel for its period. "Manhattan Madness." perhaps, turnished the basis for "Wild and Woolly." But "Wild and Woolly" for lightning speed, for the genuing comic touch, for racing or the genuine comic touch, for racing elodrams, remains peerless. It is a dyna-o of human energy, daring, skill. The reat Three—Fairbanks, Emerson, Loos ill have their share in these joyous pro-ceedings; Pairbanks for his corking new ng shots, and fine photography; Loos (who has too much of the eternal boy in her to need "Mise") for her racy and picturesque adaptation of the original story. Perhaps adaptation of the original story. Ferhaps it's Loos, after all, who counts the most. For this unpressagented little "O. Henrietta" is gaining every day in sly, dry humor, and the trick of writing burlesque leaders, a trick which she wirtually invented. She always writes with her tongue in her cheek. Here she actually puts her fingers to her nose. After poking the most ridiculous fun at the movie West, with its "Howdy, stranger," and "Neil ain't had much book larnin'" she actually makes us accept the craziest West ever screened. It gives us rare thrills. So again, bravo! rives us rare thrilis. So again, bravo'. O. Henrietta,"

ARCADIA—"Her Condened Sin." Biograph, with Blanche Sweet and Henry B. Waithall, Story adapted from the Apocrypha and Thomas Balley Aldrich's drams, 'Judith of Pethulls,' Directed by Tayid W. Griffith-Photographed by George W. Bitzer.

Photographed by Georse W Hitser.

The "mammoth film spectagle" of yesterday is apt to prove the champion film flivrer of today unless you have a man of tremendous talent directing it. That is why "Judith of Bethulia," with its preposterous new Keystone name; its often silly, llogical tinting, and a very slight amount of added material, is just as glorious martially, just as pictorially lovely and plastic, and just as well acted as it was when the Stanley first showed it years ago. The art of a Griffith is anticipatory. What he does in 1914 others do in later years. So "Judith" has none of that antiquarian interest that most old films have. It is still distinguished by high dignity, by the epic flavor, by the shock of spears, by the celluloid-poet's true feeling for line, design and flavor, by the shock of spears, by the cellu-lold-poet's true feeling for line, design and spacious composition. It displays Waithali in a somber, gigantic role, the best piece of acting he ever did, aside from "The Aveng-ing Conscience." And there is Blanche Sweet, very spiendid to look upon and ai-most, but not quite, heroic enough for "Judith." and other stars. But it is Grifith that counts-always.

ALACE—"The Siren," Fox. with Valeska Furatt and Clifford Bruce, Story by W. A. Frost, Directed by Raymond West, Photo-graphed by Donald Buchanan.

There have been some pretty villatious harpies in the movies, ever since the days of Theda's rise from the ranks. But Claire Milton, a hussy anything but Miltonic in her way of life, takes the biscuit. The author of "The Siren" has involved Claire (which is any Veleska) in a whirhpool of incident. is to say Valeska) in a whirlpool of incident, most of it of a police court nature, which simply won't be described, partly because framatic reporters' brains aren't as big as dramatic reporters' brains aren't as big as all crime and parily because it's so much easier to go to City Hall on a busy night and read the blotter for yourself. Murder, husband-desertion, phoney gambling, the badger game, jail-breaking, swindling—these are just a few of the pearls on William Fox's latest movie rosary. Some good photography of a crude sort has been placed in the production. Some wild-eyed emoting is induiged in by Miss Suratt. There is pienty of "pretty" footage—"Memories" and that sort of thing. But, my word, Mr. Fox, these aren't the middle ages of filmdom:

VICTORIA—"Oriental Love," Triangle-Key-stone, with Ora Carew, Directed by Walter Wright, Supervised by Mack Sennett,

Here is a brisk farce that somehow isn't as uproarious as it ought to be, considering the money that has been squandered or costly sets and magnificent lighting. The first caption gives the name of some gentleman as the "cina-luminist." He's really the hero of the production, for the story is thin, and most of the action revolves about such musical comedy stuff as a local magnificant water-slide force potentates and n Indian water-slide, fjerce potentates and husky harems. It pleases the eye but doesn't shake the risibilities.

PALACE—"The Rough House," Arbuckle-Para-mount, with Roscos Arbuckle and Al St. John Directed by Mr. Arbuckle.

"Fatty," in his third Paramount farce again proves the not-unheard-of theory that dough adheres to the feet, that soup can be served with a sponge and potatoes sliced

NAT M. WILLS STIRS LAUGHS AT KEITH'S

Tramp Comedian Dispenses New Thoughts Which Are Up to the Moment

Confidential information from numerous Confidential information from numerous European ambassadors was given the audi-ence at Keith's last night by Nat Wills. He said he was told privately how the war would be won, and after the nation's world's series is played in the air over Berlin he will let all in on the secret.

Mr. Wills diverted at times. He took a ew slams at "Billy" Sunday and was not verly friendly to one W. J. Bryan. He also ad some candid remarks in stock concernhad some candid remarks in stock concerning the fair sex. He gave the Evezing Linguit considerable space in his war talk but even if he hadnt done so we would have said he was the hit of the show. And he was. His material proved that he has been making industrious research in the bost brain markets.

rain markets. His piece-de-resistance is a paredy on Sousa's "Stars and Stripes." No, he doesn't lead the orchestra, but instead sings at mile-a-minute speed to keep up with the runs.

Being billed as "The Happy Tramp.

Mr. Wills has to stick to his tramp make up. But he could have dressed as a plum he ror a poet, for that matter, for his tall he ror a poet, for that matter, for his talk was about everything in the world—but tramps. It seems unnecessary to wear so troduces a line of thought which radiates wit and common sense. Knox manages to make those present believe that they have known him for years, and his heart-to-heart e at and general advice for the good of the community won no end of laughs. debris

And let it be jotted down right heers that Raiph Dunbar's Maryland singers were one of the emphatic delights of the proceedings. There are four strikingly pretty southern girls, together with Charles Frink, a heroic-looking chap of the Southland.

There's something unique in the per sonality of these girls. Each looked as though she just stepped from the parlor of some substantial southern homestead and walked straightway inte vaudeville.

Thrills were provided by the Four Miri-anos, daredevil aerialists. Nothing seemed to be too difficult for this agile quartet, which was rewarded with an abundance of They possess voices of rare charm and heir harmonies are developed with consid-erable expression. This merry quartet in-cludes Trix Oliver, Hortense Morehart, Mar-The bill also included Connelli and Cra-ven in "Moon Down," Maley and Wood in songs and dances and the Morin sisters. The news of the day and other features orie Nothercut and Grace Springstead. The nly man is Charles Frink, who has a gen-ine Disie touch on the banjo. Wellington Cross and Lois Josephine of ered some exclusive numbers and artistic dancing. The most popular of their songs appeared to be "The Old-Fasioned Groom and the Up-to-Date Bride." The act scored Betty's Courtship," a playlet unfolded by Jane Connelly and players, was an inof-fensive little affair, showing how an ener-getic daddy may get himself in trouble by anaging his son's love affairs. It is rather pleasing, but a little too chocolate eclair to leave much of an impression. Nelson War-ing is a rather pleasant-looking chap. He also plays the plane without hatred.

In the way of novelty William Ebs intro iced a live dummy in his ventrilogulal ofering. The boy comes to life at the finish and puts the act over.

The three Steindel brothers are accom-plished musicians, but their offering would go still better if the planist had a more, friendly attitude toward the instrument, friendly attitude toward the instrument, which is a patient thing withal.

Probably the oldest bar act in vaudevilles in Rice. Elmer and Tom. Rice and Elmers were in harness twenty-five years ago, they still deliver the goods in up-to-date style and did it so last night. Unlike some of our latter-day gymnasts, they do not take up valuable time by "stalling."

The four Readings appear in one of the fastest acrobatic acts in vaudeville and bring the show to a thrilling conclusion.

"Via Wireless"-Nixon Grand

"Married via Wireless," a big musical comedy, is the headliner at Nixon-Grand this week. The act is a tu dealing with the attempt of a course be married at sea, and shows how the successful by means of the inventor Signor Marconi, a member of the It commission which recently visited the Aside from the brilliant scenic effects singers and comedians are above the singers and comedians are above the age and scored a hit.

Adra Ainsley and company, in "Kiddle" a serio-comedy playlet, were on the null and are good entertainers. Others on the bill were Bonner and Powers, in songe use comedy; the Brightons, in a novelty set the Durkin Sisters, in a singing act and Joseph L. Browning, a comedian. The show concluded with weekly feature and comedy films. comedy films.

Continuing Plays

Mr. Morosco's production of the Carrol Harris-Morosco musical show, "Canac Cottage," began its third local week at it Cottage, segan to the control of the country of the the low and juvenile comedians, res

High Blood Pressure

can be reduced and the cause removed by eliminating the poisons

DRINK DAILY 8 TO 12 GLASSES OF Mountain Valley Water

Sample it FREE 718 Chestnut St. Phone Walnut 3407

Pure, tasteless-a delightful table water.

CHANDLER

The Last Day at $1395; After That $1595

There is only a week left now in which to buy your Chandler at the present $1395 price, a price which, in view of the character of this great car, has made the present Chandler series a sensation in all motor car markets. On and after July 1st the price becomes $1595.

Identically The Same Car

There will be no change of any nature issued under that title. It shows you exactly in the Chandler at the advanced price. The present series will be continued identically.

And at the higher price the Chandler will offer value far in excess of other cars which some may consider of similar character.

"See How the Chandler Checks With High-Priced Cars." Ask us for the pamphlet performs.

how the Chandler checks with the Packard, Pierce-Arrow, Cadillac, Winton, White, Stutz, Mercer and Locomobile in characteristic high-grade features of design and construction and equipment. Incidentally it shows you how other medium-priced sixes do not check with them.

Then let us show you how the Chandler

Get YOUR Chandler Now

SEVEN ATTRACTIVE CHANDLER TYPES OF BODY

Seven-Passenger Touring Car. $1395 Four-Passenger Roadster, $1395 Seven-Passenger Convertible Sedan (Fisher built) $2095 Four-Passenger Convertible Coupe (Fisher built) $1995 Limousine, $2695 Landaulet, $3050 Town Car, $3150 All prices f. o. b. Cleveland

HERBERT-COOK COMPANY

Broad and Race Streets

Telephone, SPRUCE 4825

CHANDLER MOTOR CAR COMPANY, Cleveland, Ohio